DEAN HULETT OF SLU DIES IN 73RD YEAR

Well Known Educator is Victim of Illness of More Than One Year

CANTON, Aug. 30.—Dr. Edwin Lee Hulett, 72, Dean of the College of Letters and Science at St. Lawrence university for 28 years and Dean Emeritus for a year, died this morning at 9 o'clock at his home on East Main street after more than a year of ill health.

He is survived by his wife, the former Minnie Dollar of Heuvelton, whom he married on February 5, 1896. He is also survived by two sisters; Mrs. Arthur (Sarah) Morris of Ogdensburg and Mrs. Thomas V. Fannie Dollar of Heuvelton, and one brother, Ralph H. Hulett of Ogdensburg. Also surviving are Mrs. Marian Schneider of Frankfort, died about ten days ago.

Funeral services will be held in Gunnison Memorial chapel of St. Lawrence university on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

Dean Hulett had been associated with St. Lawrence university for more than 40 years. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hulett, he was born in Heuvelton on April 30, 1870, and was graduated from St. Lawrence university with the class of 1903. Prior to that, he was graduated from the Potsdam State Normal school in 1896, and was the first principal of the Brushton, N.Y. high school from 1896 to 1902.

In 1903, the year of his graduation from St. Lawrence, he became an assistant professor of chemistry at the institution. Two years later he became head of the department and in 1912 he became register of the college in addition to his duties as a chemistry professor in 1915, he was appointed dean of the college and served in that capacity until his retirement on Oct. 18, 1941. At that time he was made dean emeritus and a life member of the board of trustees of the university posts which he held at the time of his death. In 1925 he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from St. Lawrence university. He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity, and of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity.

He joined the ranks of St. Lawrence immortals, Dr. Charles Kelsey Gaines and the late Dr. Robert Dale Ford when the 70 year retirement rule of the university was waived in 1940 to permit him to remain in office. He was continued as dean in June 1940, when members of the board of trustees were petitioned by Alumni and students to waive the retirement rule. During the following year, however, ill health forced him to be absent from his duties frequently. It was on October 18, 1941, that Dean Hulett was retired and made Dean Emeritus and a life trustee of the university. Dr. Harold E. B. Speight was appointed Dean of the College of Letters and Science to succeed him.

Following his retirement, Dean Hulett continued to take an active interest in university affairs. For many years he was a member of the Board of Administration of the college and continued in that capacity until his death. He was chairman of the committee on building and grounds of the board of trustees in his work on that committee. During the period of expansion of the university, when several new buildings were constructed on the campus, Dean Hulett gave valuable advice and assistance in this work. He was chiefly responsible for the beautification of the St. Lawrence campus in recent years.

No member of the college administration was more popular with students or alumni than Dean Hulett. He was personally acquainted with every St. Lawrence student who was graduated from the university or who studied there during the nearly half century of his association with the university. The sympathetic and friendly advice which he often delivered in his brusque and often manner brought him the esteem and admiration of generations of Laurentians.

A lifelong resident of northern New York, Dean Hulett always had the welfare of the people of the north country close to his heart. He was a firm believer in making available the faith of St. Lawrence university to individuals and groups from this area. During the army maneuvers held in northern New York in the summer of 1940, Dean Hulett was instrumental in making the university the general staff headquarters. His cooperation with army officers during that time brought him much praise and commendation from Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum and many other army officers. Under his administration as dean of the college, St. Lawrence university became a cosmopolitan community, as evidenced by the fact that one third of the students at the university are residents of New York City and the metropolitan area.

Adirondack Council Scout Campaign Opens September 21

Adirondack Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, has attracted nation-wide interest since accepting title to the beautiful Charles E. Bedford Partridge Park and Clear Pond estates in the Town of Duane.

And now that the Council owns the heavily wooded and watered 3,400-acre tract, interest in Scouting has increased considerably and leaders predict that the annual financing campaign will be the most successful ever conducted by the Council.

All five districts in the council will launch the campaign on September 21 with the goal of $12,367. All quotas are slightly higher than last year, including that of North Franklin district.

General Chairman of the campaign is James Rogers, II, Ausable Forks, Council President. Erwin Heck has been named chairman of the campaign in North Franklin District.

Other district chairmen include: Tupper Lake—Hamilton Moore; Co-Chairman, H. N. Savett. Saranac Lake—Dr. Homer L. Sampson.

Essex—Harry MacDougall. Clinton—Judge Robert S. Long. The chairman in each district has expressed a desire to complete his committee as soon as possible and conduct a speedy, efficient drive.

A thorough canvass will be made to permit everyone to do his or her bit for Scouting which means far more now than ever before with the nation at war. Scouts are aiding materially in the effort and adequate funds are a vital necessity to assure Scouting throughout Adirondack council during the coming year.

What Council Is And What Scout Money Goes Into

There are many people throughout the Adirondack Council who are not familiar with just what use is made of the money raised for Scouting.

Officers of the Council, in preparing the budget of $12,637, made out a complete report of just where each penny goes and this is given in full below:

Field Service
The Adirondack Council, Inc., is composed of over 400 volunteer leaders including council officers, scoutmaster, assistant scoutmasters, troop and pack committee, district leaders, and instructors in over one hundred different subjects. These men are helping over 1500 scouts and cubs who are active in the scouting program each year. The responsibility of the executive staff is to assist these men in their work with boys. This involves training these men in the proper methods of using the program. The executive travels over 20,000 miles each year in this service. Field service also includes the promotion of the advancement of scouts and cubs. The council supervises the promotion of all Scouts through committees in each district. It makes all awards to scouts in recognition of their progress in scouting and presents certificates.

Camping and Activities
Camping is the heart of scouting. Boys learn to become self-reliant, courageous, reverent citizens in a camp conducted on scoutings principles. This item does not include any capital expenditure for the development of our new Camp Bedford. It does include camp staff salaries, cost of staff meals, and insurance which are necessary camp items. Camp fees paid by the scouts cover only 55 per cent of the total cost of operating the camp. If camp fees were increased it would result in depriving many boys of a camping opportunity.

Under this item will be found the cost of developing and running district activities such as the Camp-O-Ree, rallies, etc., as well as an allowance of the executive staff expense devoted to the development of these activities.

Extension
One of the greatest tasks in the next 12 months is to give more boys a chance to become scouts and cubs by organizing more scouting men. The second staff member makes it necessary for the council to make available a large part of the time of the Executive Staff, which under this budget will consist of two professionally trained men.
